In the third IVF cycle, you will receive two extra laboratory techniques for free. The first method is EmbryoGlue® and you can choose the second method according to your wishes and needs. The loyalty program is valid only for IVF cycle using fresh embryos.

More details about EmbryoGlue®

The crucial part of this transfer medium is hyaluronan which is naturally present in follicular fluid in the fallopian tubes and in the uterus where it creates environment with a higher viscosity. This medium contains all the essential nutrients and sources of energy needed for an optimal embryo development. The use of this medium is recommended for all treated couples but especially for those with recurrent failed embryo transfers.

IVF TREATMENT WITH OWN EGGS

During a classic IVF treatment using own eggs and partner's sperm, a hormonal stimulation is used in order to obtain a higher number of mature eggs. In time of ovulation, the content of the follicles is aspirated from the ovaries - the liquid contains eggs which are subsequently fertilised by the partner's sperm in the laboratory. The following development of the embryos is monitored and usually five days later, the embryos are transferred in the woman's uterus and the surplus high-quality embryos are frozen.

The loyalty treatment

In case your first treatment cycle fails and you decide to undergo the second IVF cycle with your own eggs at our clinic, you will receive a transfer medium (EmbryoGlue®) for free. This special medium increases chances of a successful implantation of the embryo in the uterus. If you do not get pregnant after two IVF cycles with your own eggs, you will receive two extra laboratory techniques for free for your third cycle. The first method is EmbryoGlue® and you can choose the second method according to your wishes and needs. The loyalty program is valid only for IVF cycle using fresh embryos. The fee for the frozen embryo transfer is charged according to the current price list.

IVF TREATMENT WITH DONOR EGGS

The IVF treatment with donor eggs gives a chance to women unable to get pregnant with their own eggs. After several examinations and according to preferences, a suitable anonymous donor is selected. After the egg retrieval, the donor eggs are fertilised by the recipient's partner's sperm. The day of the donor egg retrieval, the recipient starts using hormonal medications in order to prepare the endometrium for the embryo implantation. Usually after five days of embryo cultivation, the embryo is transferred to the uterus of the recipient. It is possible to freeze any surplus high-quality embryos.
